Letter from our CEO

Dear Friends,

When I first visited Frontier Co-op nearly 29 years ago, I immediately recognized a company that was doing things much differently than I had ever seen before in my career. I was here for an interview for the co-op's plant manager position. At the time, I was already working for a company that provided fair pay, good benefits, and treated their employees well. While I was satisfied in my job, I longed for more purpose in my work and was intrigued by this small company in the middle of an Iowa cornfield.

As I walked the warehouse during my interview, the founder and CEO of Frontier, Rick Stewart, stopped next to a pallet of bulk tea and said, "See that crate of tea? That's a year's wages for a family halfway around the world. Be happy you were born where you were." At that moment, I realized that Frontier Co-op was doing something special, and I wanted to be a part of it. Since its very beginnings, Frontier has understood that business can be a force for positive change in the lives of both our sourcing partners around the world and our employees here at home.

Needless to say, I joined the company and never looked back. While Frontier has enjoyed a lot of growth over the years, it has never lost its guiding principle: that "doing good, works." Throughout our history, our socially responsible projects have created long-term positive returns for our suppliers, our co-op members and our employees. That positive return comes in many forms, whether it's higher-quality products, better in-stock rates from our supply partners, or strong marketing campaigns that share the positive social impact of our Simply Organic, Frontier Co-op and Aura Cacia brands.

But our mindset that "doing good, works" doesn't stop with our supply partners or our socially responsible projects. It's an established culture at Frontier Co-op. It's the basis of our approach to sustainability — from waste reduction to renewable energy. It impacts the way we work with our employees and invest in their future. Throughout the years, doing good has clearly worked for us — we've been "paid back" as a result of doing the right thing. The best part about operating in this way is that we recruit, engage and retain employees who care about our mission. One of the most satisfying parts of my job is sharing the stories of how the hard work of each and every one of our employees has made an impact on our supply partners around the world.

I'm often asked whether being a socially responsible company is more important than our financial success, and my answer is always the same — both are equally important and it's impossible to separate the two. Frontier Co-op would never have been as successful as we have been for over the last 43 years without doing things the right way, because doing good, works.

Thanks to you, our members, for helping drive our success. The more Frontier Co-op grows, the more good we can do together.

Thank you for your continued patronage and support,

Opportunity to Grow

Below the majesty of the Himalaya mountain range north of India's Kumaon region, vibrant tea fields are budding back to life through a sourcing partnership that's bringing a new prosperity to local communities.

From climbing trees to life-changing teas

Our story with the women of Kumaon begins 60 feet up in a tree. That's how high some women would climb nearly every morning to cut wood for their families. Watching this routine, the founder of Young Mountain, the first tea partner in our Well Earth® sustainable supply chain program, wondered, "Why?"

"I learned she does this because she has no other options," explained Young Mountain founder Raj Vable. "A lack of local livelihood options forces the youth to migrate in search of work, which leaves women behind in near-subsistence conditions."

At least, it used to.

Vable used his strength as an entrepreneur, establishing partnerships with local communities that agreed to return to growing tea in the region. We're proud to partner with Vable and be among the first U.S. companies to offer their Organic Kumaon Tea (bulk item #4918). Kumaon black tea is similar in strength to a robust, English breakfast tea, with floral aromas and cocoa-sweet flavors.

"If not for the tea, what would we eat?"

Kumaon tea production dates back to 1855 when the British first established tea in India by planting Chinese varieties in the region. Over time, the British shifted their main production to the Darjeeling region, resulting in the near disappearance of tea in Kumaon. Through efforts of the government, Kumaon tea production is now being revived, and the region's uniqueness makes it ripe to become a new origin of note.

Still, life in this region is hard. Transport to and from Kumaon, which has limited industrial development and accompanying employment opportunities, is difficult. Likewise, there are few farming opportunities in the cool climate and hilly terrain, with many families limited to subsistence farming or close to it. At least one member of almost every family has migrated for work to Delhi (12 hours away) or another large city, disrupting life in the home.

Through a unique public-private partnership, Young Mountain's supply chain leverages the expertise of local processing artisan Desmond Birkbeck and a state government program supporting tea for economic development. The government provides local women with a full year's salary to pluck tea — in many cases, right on their own farms.

"They earn a decent income for the region, and the work allows women to earn without pulling them from their household responsibilities," explained Seth Petchers, Frontier Co-op Sustainable Supply Chain Manager, who visited the tea growers in late 2018. "Their alternative is next to nothing. When I asked one of the women whose farm has been developed into a tea garden through this program, she said to me, 'If not for the tea, what would we eat?'"

Stronger together

When Frontier Co-op entered this story, we doubled Young Mountain's export volume with the introduction of our new Kumaon tea — thus doubling the benefits to women's lives and helping further demonstrate the viability of this impact-focused business model. Later this year, Frontier Co-op will launch two more unique Young Mountain teas — a Nepali Iced Tea Blend (bulk item #4950) and a co-op-produced Green Pearl Tea (bulk item #4951).

"Frontier Co-op's purchase commitment and ability to facilitate other supply chain relationships is a game-changer for this impact venture and others we partner with," said Petchers. "We're building on each other's strengths, all of us."

Top row, left and right: Tea pickers from Chirrapani, one of three gardens that supplies tea leaves that become Kumaon Black tea. Chirrapani means "split water" and is named after the waterfall at the top of the garden. Most of the tea bushes in Chirrapani are the original plantings from 1855, making them over 160 years old!

The Simply Organic Giving Fund supports organic agricultural development and educational opportunities in grower communities around the world — as well as giving to a wide variety of organic growing-based organizations here in the United States. We are directing our domestic grant dollars this year to organizations that are addressing food insecurity by increasing access to fresh, healthy, organic foods for populations in need.

emergency food network

Emergency Food Network's Mother Earth Farm partners with the Purdy Women's Program to teach incarcerated women job and life skills through raising fresh produce for 71 food pantries, meal sites, and shelters in Washington state. Giving Fund dollars are supporting the production of the more than 130,000 pounds of organic food EFN provides annually.

feed iowa first

Feed Iowa First uses donated plots of land surrounding local churches and businesses to grow fresh, organic produce for local food pantries, donating over 20,000 pounds of organically grown produce last year. Giving Fund dollars will assist the organization's goal this year of expanding to 15 partner sites for vegetable production.

farmshare austin

This Austin, Texas based program strives to grow a healthy food community by educating new farmers, increasing access to organic food options, and preserving farmland. The Giving Fund is supporting their Mobile Markets Program, which increases access for those facing economic and geographic challenges to obtaining healthy, organic food, and at the same time benefits the local farmers from whom they source.

ceres community project

The Northern California-based Ceres Community Project's Youth Development Garden Program engages youth in growing fresh produce and preparing medically tailored meals for ill and elderly residents. Our grant dollars are helping them achieve their goal of creating connections between youth, the clients, the earth and the healing power of organic, sustainably raised foods for the community and the planet.

matthew25

Iowa-based Matthew25's Cultivate Hope program teaches kids and families how to grow, eat and preserve fresh, high-quality food and provides low-income residents access to healthy produce at an affordable level. Giving Fund grant dollars are supporting this and the organization's Groundswell Café — an innovative 'pay-it-forward' café that addresses food insecurity through giving all people access to healthy organic food.

coastal roots farm

Coastal Roots Farm is a nonprofit Jewish community farm and education center that cultivates healthy communities by integrating sustainable agriculture and food justice. Simply Organic's grant will allow its Produce Donation Program to provide access to organics for the food insecure in a manner that promotes dignity and self-sufficiency by connecting people through farming and food.

VANILLA FARM

Support in Uganda

Uganda's reputation as a vanilla-producing nation is unique. With unusually high levels of vanillin — the active flavor compound in vanilla — Ugandan vanilla is the world's only vanilla crop with two annual harvest seasons. In recent years, extreme price volatility in the global vanilla market has taken a toll on Ugandan vanilla farmers. To help address these challenges, we're taking a dual-faceted approach. As a member of the Sustainable Vanilla Initiative's Steering Committee, Frontier Co-op is an active participant in a group of companies that recently helped guide the Ugandan government in passing new laws to protect farmers' vanilla crop. In addition, we've worked with our Well Earth partner, Uvan, to provide direct services to the farmers who grow the vanilla we source. Our grants matched Uvan's investment in training for quality and good growing practices. We also provided pre-harvest loans to farmers, and we're supporting research that could help farmers earn more by growing coffee alongside vanilla. The situation is complex and won't be solved overnight, but progress is being made. We're proud to contribute to a sustainable future for such a special vanilla.

High-Curcumin ORGANIC TURMERIC Scale Up In India

Through our Well Earth™ sourcing program, we co-invest in projects that provide farmers support to grow the best crops year after year. Long-time partner Peermade Development Society Organic Spices (PDS) was established to convert small-scale farms to organic production and create sustainable farm incomes. Since our sourcing partnership with PDS began in 2007, we've provided grants to support the introduction of organic turmeric production, and we've funded a soil testing laboratory. More recently, we've joined forces with PDS to scale up production of heirloom turmeric varieties that yield the highest levels of curcumin, the root's most highly sought-after compound. Working with PDS' team, we've developed a three-year project to pull over 100 farmers into organic cultivation of high-curcumin varieties by providing root stock, soil and leaf analysis, and training. We've committed to purchase all of the turmeric that the project produces, ensuring farmers' ability to grow the high-curcumin product and guaranteeing them a profitable market.

BULK Gourmet SALTS

Alder Smoked Salt

Coarse Grind #4418

Alder Smoked Salt gets its authentic flavor from being slowly smoked over true alderwood — the traditional smoking wood of the Northwest — not from artificial flavorings or oils. This all-natural smoking process adds a sweet, true smokehouse flavor. Alder smoked salt pairs well with any grilled foods, especially salmon, asparagus, pork, ribs and burgers.

#4418

#4412

Fleur de Sel

#4412

Long considered the caviar of salts, Fleur de Sel (flower of salt) has slightly moist crystals that look like tiny snowflakes. This rare salt is hand harvested from pristine salt marshes in Brittany, France, and tastes of the sea. Fleur de Sel has a floral aroma and briny, complex minerality. Pair it with delicate shellfish of any kind. It is also the perfect salt for a mixed-from-scratch vinaigrette dressing on tender, fresh greens.

Himalayan Pink Salt

Fine Grind #4417

Medium Grind #4407

Himalayan Pink Salt is pure, hand-mined salt found deep inside the pristine Himalayan Mountains. The high mineral content of Himalayan salt crystals contributes to their color, ranging from deep reds to beautiful pinks. Try adorning tender white meats such as lean pork, chicken or turkey with the mineral-rich flavor of this gorgeous salt.

#4407

#4419

Kosher Flakes

#4419

Sprinkle a pinch of Kosher Flaked Sea Salt to perfectly finish a dish. Many recipes and chefs call specifically for kosher salt due to the unique shape of its flat crystals and the more rounded, less harshly alkaline flavor it has over ordinary table salt. The increased surface area of these kosher flakes helps the salt adhere beautifully to foods such as pretzels, breads and salted caramels. Unlike some brands of kosher salt, ours is actually made from real ocean water.

Sea Salt

Coarse Grind 5 lb. #333

Fine Grind 5 lb. #193

Frontier Co-op Sea Salt is sourced directly from the Mediterranean coast of France. This premium salt contains naturally occurring trace minerals. Typical refined table salt has these minerals removed and chemicals added.

#333

#193

Sea Salt, Grey

Fine Grind #4409

Our Grey Sea Salt, or Sel Gris, is an all-natural sea salt, unrefined and unprocessed, sourced from clean coastal waters along the Guérande Region of Brittany, France. This robust, briny and mineral-rich sea salt is harvested by traditional Celtic methods using a paludier, a craftsman salt harvester. This is a lovely, aromatic salt to flavor water for boiling pasta, or to adorn grilled shellfish, bivalves and fish.

#4408

Yakima Applewood Smoked Salt

#4408

Yakima™ Applewood Smoked Salt is a flaky sea salt that is naturally smoked over true Eastern Washington Applewood at low temperatures. Aged applewood is one of the most popular fruit woods used in smoking foods because it yields a dense, fruity-sweet flavor, unlike most other woods. Season barbecued meats, marinades, brines and chutneys with this richly flavored salt.

Preserving BAOBAB TREES helps support communities

Our organic baobab fruit powder comes through the Baobab Foundation, a non-profit in South Africa that provides playground equipment, classroom materials and caregiver training to under-resourced pre-schools where baobab harvesters live. To provide sustainability for the magnificent baobab trees, the Foundation encourages baobab fruit collectors to grow and take care of young baobab seedlings in their home gardens until the trees are strong enough to survive being planted out. Trees are then planted throughout the village, and each is looked after by an assigned "Baobab Guardian" until it's strong enough to survive for the next thousand years.

Investing in quality CUMIN SEED matters

In Rajasthan, India, our Well Earth partner Swani Spice Mills works with 250 farmers across several villages to produce high quality, organic cumin seed. Swani Spice deploys an agricultural support team that visits farmers and provides training and guidance on the most productive ways to produce an organic crop. Traditionally, farmers hire local processors to bring threshing machines to the farms to separate seeds from the plant. But, if the organically grown cumin seed comes in contact with pesticide-contaminated processing equipment, all of the farmers' hard work may be for naught. Frontier partnered with Swani Spice to purchase two new threshing machines dedicated to organic cumin. The result: the organic cumin seed stays pure, quality and efficiency is improved, and farmers pay a third of what they had previously paid for threshing. It's a win all around. Sometimes the most effective sustainability projects are the simplest.

Product Information

Quality PEPPER begins deep in the dirt

Healthy soil – the kind that has the right nutrients to sustain small organic spice farms – requires scientific expertise. Which is why we funded a soil-testing laboratory at the Sahyadri Research Institute in India through our Well Earth™ sustainable sourcing program. Now, small organic farms can access this expertise to increase their yields and better their livelihoods – and provide us with a reliable supply of the highest quality spices from the region, like black pepper. Working together to educate and improve the efficiency and productivity of our suppliers around the world is core to our mission. And it's making a difference in the quality of our product and the lives of the farmers.

ORGANIC CERTIFICATION

Organic products are certified by the USDA and Quality Assurance International.

Building
BAY LEAF
for the next generation

For residents of one small, seaside village in Turkey, collecting and selling bay leaves is a way of life that's gaining traction among young people, due in part to a partnership with the S.S. Karacabey Kursunlu Village Agricultural Development Cooperative and our supplier Kütaş. Through a project started in 2018, we're helping the co-op expand its processing capabilities, increasing efficiency and allowing the co-op to retain 50 percent more of the unprocessed product's value. Our partnership with the co-op focuses on forest husbandry education and product traceability, while also helping address the aging population of leaf collectors. While other rural parts of the country are seeing out-migration of young people, the comparatively good quality of life and distance from major cities keeps young people in the area, and is even pulling people back to the village. Additionally, young people engage in bay leaf collection along with wild harvesting other crops, adding to the long-term viability of the co-op while other collection regions reduce productivity.

Hope grows with SAFFRON
in Afghanistan

Rumi Spice was founded by a team of military veterans who served in Afghanistan. Their aim: contribute to Afghanistan's stabilization efforts by increasing farmer incomes, creating jobs (especially for women), and providing an alternative to selling poppy used for illicit drug production. Saffron is one of the most expensive spices in the world. It grows exceptionally well in the high, arid climate of the Pashtun, Zargol, and Ghuryan districts in the Herat Province of Afghanistan. When we saw the first sample of Rumi Spice's saffron, we were struck by its deep red color and fragrant floral aroma. The product and mission were a perfect match for us. We provided Rumi Spice with grants for infrastructure and training that ensure the highest quality production possible, with saffron traceable back to each and every farm. Through our partnership, we've helped Rumi Spice produce some of the world's very best saffron in a way that exemplifies the positive impact that our sourcing program can create.

What's the difference?

BETWEEN EXTRACTS AND FLAVORS

EXTRACTS: An extract is a concentrated solution of the complex and flavorful oils, resins and compounds of the herb, spice, fruit or nut that have been extracted. Because they are more concentrated, a recipe may call for smaller amounts of an extract than it would for a flavor.

FLAVORS: A flavor is a less concentrated dilution of an extract in a base liquid such as alcohol, vegetable glycerin, water, vegetable oil or a combination thereof. Because of this dilution, a recipe will usually call for a larger, easier-to-measure amount of flavoring vs. an extract.

Our Northern Vietnamese growers, harvesting cinnamon. Taken only at the base of trees matured 20+ years, this bark yields the highest concentrations of oils and the best flavor.

Simply Organic®

We're Simply Organic. We work personally with small organic farmers to ensure our organic spices are grown with intense flavor, color and potency.

THE BACKSTORY smoked paprika

ITEM: 0-89836-19517-3

The smoky-sweet flavor and deep rich color of our smoked paprika result from meticulous sourcing and preparation. The peppers are grown in the fertile valleys of the Murcia region of southeastern Spain, slow-smoked over an oak wood fire, then stone ground—yielding a paprika with deep, complex flavor and enticing aroma that won us Cook's Illustrated's top recommendation over other brands, and was their “favorite product in every tasting.”

SOIL ENRICHMENT parsley

Soil health is one the pillars of regenerative agriculture. Herbs like parsley (Petroselinum crispum) show their love for healthy soil with bright, green color and delicate flavor and aroma. But just like people, farm soil needs nutrients to stay healthy. Our Well Earth partner Herbiotech Aroma is committed to the tenets of organic agriculture, including maintaining healthy soil. But in Tunisia, finding compost that is compatible with organic certification can be a challenge. To ensure that Herbiotech's farmland stays healthy and productive, Simply Organic is supporting organic compost production right on Herbiotech's farm, providing both the equipment and training Herbiotech needs to begin producing and spreading compost on its land. The compost turner is currently working 600 tons of raw compost material, and two tons have been spread on a section of parsley for testing. Soil testing will track the soil's enrichment and help Herbiotech's agricultural technicians fine tune the exact organic ingredients that go into the compost. Within 2 to 3 years, Herbiotech will be able to produce enough organic compost for all of its acreage as part of an ongoing cycle. The expected result: beautiful, high quality herbs that keep both Mother Nature and our customers happy.

Simply Organic sells only the superior-flavored flat leaf parsley (sometimes called Italian parsley), Petroselinum crispum var. neapolitanum. Most suppliers sell common, weaker-flavored curly leaf parsley (P. crispum var. crispum,) because it's easier to bottle. We take the trouble to fill our bottles with the most flavorful organically grown parsley available. The taste is worth it.

GROWING ORGANIC black pepper

ITEM: 0-89836-18263-0

Black pepper (Piper nigrum) is not native to Vietnam, but economic reforms in the 1990's opened the door to production and export that made Vietnam the world's top black pepper exporter.

The crop has been a boon to many poor Vietnamese farmers. However, unsustainable cultivation and pesticide overuse challenge the industry. For the past 10 years, we have worked hand in hand with Pacific Basin Partnership to source organic and "clean" black pepper, as well as other spices. We're currently partnering with Pacific Basin and the non-profit Sustainable Food Group to transition 150 additional growers to organic or low-impact peppercorn production. For three years, farmers will receive training and support to improve soil nutrient management, optimize food safety, and adopt organic or integrated pest management practices. This means safer production and increased incomes for farming families, reduced environmental impact, and high-quality "clean" black pepper for your table—and your wellbeing.

Cole Daily, Senior VP of Operations, presents pepper farmers with certificates of achievement for obtaining organic certification.

CURCUMIN BOOST turmeric

ITEM: 0-89836-18525-9

Simply Organic goes to great lengths to find the highest quality herbs and spices, but we know that growing consistently superior botanicals requires a great deal of know-how and effort. Long-time partner Peermade Development Society Organic Spices (PDS) shares our passion for developing exceptional and potent organic herbs and spices—as well as for assisting growers and their communities. We've recently completed a three-year project with PDS to scale up production of heirloom turmeric varieties that yield high levels of curcumin—the root's most highly sought after compound—by providing root stock, soil and leaf analysis, and training. As a result, over 100 farmers are now cultivating high-curcumin varieties of turmeric. We've committed to purchasing all of the turmeric that the project produces, guaranteeing these farmers a profitable market and sustainable incomes.

TRACEABILITY & SUSTAINABILITY vanilla

ITEM: 0-89836-18532-7, 0-89836-18531-0, 0-89836-19852-5

The vanilla trade is a challenging one, vulnerable to complex social, political and economic factors that result in unstable pricing and supply fluctuations. For example, a crop-damaging cyclone or an imbalance of global supply and demand can cause prices to go up, only to see marauders steal vanilla beans off the vines to profit from those price increases. To prevent this, farmers resort to harvesting their vanilla early, but the quality and potency of the unripened beans are lower, yielding weaker returns for the growers.

Traceability of the supply chain has also been a problem in the global vanilla market. It's impossible to ensure quality when you don't know where your vanilla is coming from.

Our vanilla is grown by co-ops of small-scale farmers in Madagascar. We know this because we develop genuine relationships at the source with growers, paying them a premium to grow in accordance with organic standards that ensure more environmentally friendly production. Our strong sourcing relationships have enabled us to continue providing customers with high-quality vanilla extract even during crisis periods.

As a member of the Sustainable Vanilla Initiative's Steering Committee, we are an active participant in a group of companies working with non-profit organizations and the local vanilla industry to stabilize conditions for farmers. The situation is complex and won't be solved overnight. But progress is being made and we're proud to contribute to a sustainable future for vanilla.

ROSEMARY & TEA TREE

Rosemary and tea tree come in many different varieties, with each one offering different benefits. If the common name doesn't match the botanical name, chances are what's in the bottle is not what you are expecting and may not achieve the intended aromatherapy benefit.

WINTERGREEN

Creates Economic Development

The collection of Aura Cacia wintergreen for distillation has become an environmentally sustainable income opportunity for Nepal's rural villagers.

This supplier was certified through Frontier Co-op's Well Earth sustainable sourcing program, which provided $66,000 in funding for a wintergreen distillation facility to create income-generating employment opportunities in a rural village of 150.

Wintergreen collection and processing can be done alongside villagers' daily home and farming tasks, making opportunities particularly accessible to women.

Ayate

The unique, all natural, hand-woven washcloth imported from Mexico

The Flower Valley® Ayate is a unique product imported from Mexico. This hand-woven fabric is an ancient answer to modern skin care. Once soaked in water, the natural fibers expand and the weave tightens as if by magic.

When you wash with the ayate, you will find it pleasingly abrasive as it restores and stimulates the skin to a smooth invigorating freshness. This versatile cloth is long-lasting and quick-drying. Better than a loofah, it resists mold and is useful in the kitchen as an efficient mar-free utility cloth.

It's not just a washcloth, it's an experience...
